EVENT DRIVEN MONITOR

Vol. 223

www.KEDM.com

May 4, 2025

Dear Reader,

We realize that the size of KEDM may be intimidating—it shouldn't be. KEDM is meant for those in a hurry, along with those who want to spend a weekend fishing for ideas. Here are some tips on how to navigate KEDM based on how much time you intend to spend.

Up front, we have “KEDM Kliff Notes” where we flag what we consider to be the most interesting events of the week. Mind you, these are not buy and sell recommendations, but simply notes on the corporate event. This is then followed by “Weekly Changes” where we note all the material changes since the prior week. For many of you, these two sections should give you all the information you need to be informed of what’s changing in the world of Event-Driven opportunities. The next few pages are our trading watchlists and notes on beaten down stocks that are on our radar for possible inflections in the coming months.

For those who want to dive in, the supporting data then follows. The index on page 2 links to the corresponding sections, allowing you to rapidly jump around to the sections that you are most interested in. We have color coded the data with green indicating a new ticker was added and yellow for when data changes. This is meant to allow you to rapidly scan the data and focus on only the information that has changed since last time. To make the data more user friendly, we have added links that rapidly take you to the appropriate press release, SEC filing or corporate presentation. Finally, we’ve flagged certain data orange to show that it’s moved materially within the data-set. This is for people looking for leaders and laggards.

We know that some of you want to pull charts or go back to old data, so it’s all there for you. It really comes down to what you want to do. KEDM can be a quick weekly reminder of pending events, or it can become a full-time obsession, along with everything in between. We hope you find it as valuable as we do.

Sincerely,

KEDM Team

KEDM Kliff Notes

Too busy to read everything? The KEDM team summarizes the most interesting Event-Driven information of the week/month.

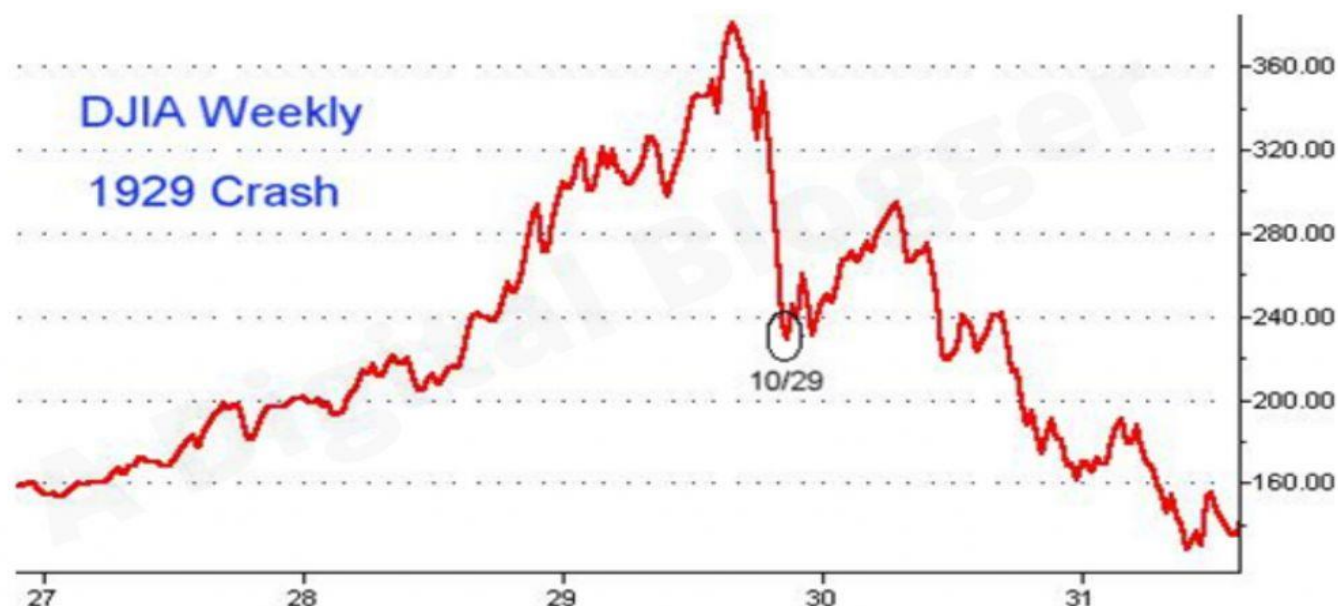

Once you see a chart, you sometimes struggle to un-see it... This is the Naz during the 2000 tech bubble.

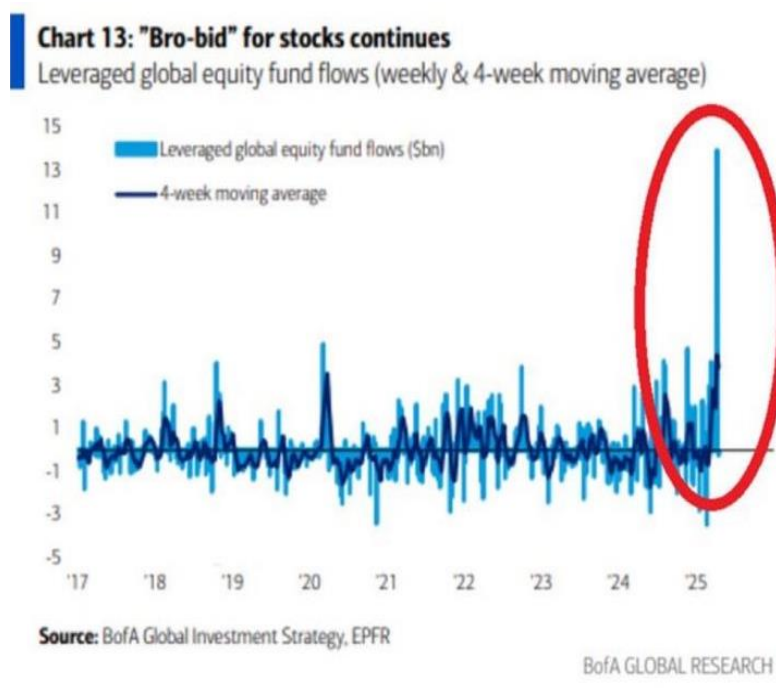

Now let's look at the GFC. Note a pattern? A smash, then consolidate, then leak lower until the real selling starts.

It's almost a chart crime to then pull up 1929, but we can't help ourselves...

Once again, a smash, a bounce that rolls. Then the real selling starts. What's interesting is that the intermission between the crash and the real selling is about 6 months. Those are the hardest six months of a bear's life. The economic data is still strong. All your friends are buying the dip like lunatics. You can't short it because it's very whippy and wild. You can't buy it because you know what's coming next. All you can do is stand aside—or at least you should. Instead, most of the fukwits double down on the long side. In fact, they chase so hard that you get Zweig Breath Thrusts to the upside as they panic buy ETFs that then push everything higher. This isn't normal. It's not healthy. It's smart money selling to monkeys and we feel like we've seen this movie before...

Go and look at the real economy. Look at the S&P 600. If you called it a benchmark of sh*tcos, we wouldn't disagree. Except to note that the real economy is also mostly a basket of privately owned sh*tcos. This isn't a healthy chart. It looks like a dead-cat bounce, before we take out the lows from the mini-recession of 2022. In fact, most charts outside of a handful of tech names look like this, even in the larger cap S&P 400. Even the equal-weighted S&P 500 looks bad. We'd bet the S&P 475 looks even worse than the RSP. That's because the economy is rolling over. It's becoming obvious. Meanwhile, the tech companies don't see it yet, but when their customers stop spending, they'll see the pain too, and from a higher valuation level—hence further to fall. Of course, since no one knows what PLTR does, they keep crowding into it and a few other momentum names, but that isn't a market. That's just a speculative orgy.

We think the real economy breaks first, then drags everything else down. 1200 on the S&P 600 is probably your cue to panic. Of course, we think that the rest of the market chops before it rolls. Maybe the tech names even make a new marginal high. We have no idea. We just think it's all bad. Very Bad. Like we've said a few times now, we've seen this movie before and we think we know how it ends...

...it ends when the Fed panics. But the Fed won't panic until there's an actual crisis. Think back to 2008, when they started to cut rates, that was when the real selling started. Same goes for 2001. To avert what's coming, you're going to need a quantum of liquidity that is large enough to break the dollar and break the Treasury market. You need "Project Zimbabwe," and we don't think JPOW is the man who wants to be responsible for it. Not until he has no choice...

...But the 2000 tech smash was because of internet companies with no earnings finally getting fairly valued. 2008 was when complex derivatives blew up. 1929 was a deflationary bust. We've been reading you for ages and you expect an inflationary crack-up. How do we crash??

What if we don't crash. What if it's just a fade lower over many years, like when Japanese Exceptionalism ended, or when the Nifty 50 ended. Multiples slowly compress as they try to massage the bond market lower for a few years, before they give up and launch it all. What if the S&P earnings come in at $220 down from estimates around $260 (tariffs and interest rate drag). What if we then trade at 13x that because 10s are at 6%?? Then you get 2860 on the S&P. We're not saying it gets hit that hard, we're not saying it doesn't get hit harder either. We're just trying to think out loud about where 'fair value' would be in an interest rate environment that seems quite likely.

When you tell the foreigners to go home and leave your market, bonds blow out, and then crowd out equities. It happened in Brazil. It happened in Turkey. It happened in the US in the 1970s. It can happen again. We think it likely happens again. What if this chart reverses and a few trillion of foreign capital tries to leave...?? As so much of the US economy is tied to the Wealth Effect, it sort of feeds on itself, reflexively.

We posted this chart a few weeks ago. Remember what we said about there being no such thing as a quadruple bottom?? Well, bonds bounced for two weeks with equities. Now bonds have started rolling over again, even as leading economic data like PMI and ISM are weakening. If bonds can't rally on bad data, then we really are an EM. TLT under $85 means that everything dies. We're watching this, terrified that the equity market is on borrowed time—though based on past history, it probably takes another few months to play out first.

Anyway, you know where we stand. It could be a crash, it could be a slow fade, maybe we just chop wood for a decade until earnings catch up. We definitely aren't saying that we're about to waterfall in 6 months, though we could. We certainly think that the smash, 6 month rally, then fade, is an interesting chart pattern to be aware of, as these things tend to rhyme. With the strength of the bounce, we can't help but think of 2000, when everyone wanted to believe it was an 'all clear' moment. From a sentiment perspective, it feels more like 2008. Anything is possible, we're just bearish equities. Very bearish...

We think the Fed eventually steps in and tries to save the market, they probably just make it all worse by making it inflationary, but first they need to see actual pain. We need a reset of the global system where mercantilist countries stop dumping product on us. We need a way to force them to consume more (which they refuse to). We need everyone to "Run It Hot" to escape the debt trap. Yet many countries are unwilling to do that, as it upsets their model of running a sweat shop that benefits the 0.1%. To counter their intransience, we need to weaken the Dollar dramatically. As foreigners wise up to this, they will front-run it, and exit our markets. Trump for all his craziness is trying to force change, but it's only accelerating the inevitable reckoning. Now it seems increasingly likely that the world can only reset with a crisis. However, there are many steps along the way to the crisis. In investing, you don't want to get more than a move ahead.

We keep asking ourselves, what business actually does well when 10s are at 6% on the way to 8%. We're sorta stumped. We think it happens with DXY leaking lower too. We're going to open a room on the KEDM Discord to discuss this, as we want plays on this. We think the trend is a mega-trend for the rest of the decade, maybe even the only trend that matters.

We don't like to short, and we know we can't be long as we'll just get chopped up. We've gone through this a few times in our careers. In retrospect, we wish we had been far more aggressive during the times when we wholesale liquidated positions (winter 2007 and February 2020), as we still suffered on the way down. We harvested many positions in May of 2024. We cleaned up the small-caps and illiquids back then. Honestly, almost all of them are down from where we made sales. We wish we had sold far more as it was the top for most GDP sensitive businesses. Now we're using this bounce to clean up the liquid stuff too. We think the right trading strategy is to simply sit in cash, write puts on the smashes, bleed the puts on the rips and find a handful of businesses that do well in this crazy world we're about to enter. What does well when bonds blow out, FX blows out, there is a lot of economic volatility, added inflation, and a lot of fiscal prolificacy?? Gold and what else...?? We're in search of the answer...

Cluster Buying Notes:

- A Director at oil and gas equipment and services company Weatherford International Plc (WFRD), purchased \$500k of shares.
- A handful of directors at Life Sciences Co AVTR stood in there for $600k as the stock continues its slide.
- The President and CEO of auto parts company Phinia Inc. \(PHIN\) purchased 10,000 shares for \$400k.
- Not a cluster, but a 10% holder at CBRL has purchased \$16m worth over the last month.
- An Australian fund has joined Coliseum on the 10% holder list for MCFT after its purchases in recent weeks.
- The CEO/Chairman of the Board and the COO took down \$900k at FTAI after it took a hit on earnings

Buyback Notes:

- MGM continues to hammer the buy button with another $2B program (~20%). They purchased \$489m in Q1 and \$1.3B in the TTM and have shrunk the share count by 43% since 2021. Worth noting they are #23 on the buyback leaderboard....
- Not huge size, but good to see gold miners hitting the list as FCF inflects. This week AEM upped their buyback to \$1B. They bought a measly $50m in Q1 but expect this to ramp from here...
- Our old friend BLDR continues to scoop up shares with another ~\$400m bought YTD and reupping their authorization to $500m. They have bought back 48% of the SO since the program began in 2021.
- GoDaddy, GDDY, took down a sizeable $767m in Q1 and completed their $4b program. Since 2022 (when Starboard started agitating for change) they have taken in 25% of the SO at an avg price of $91. They reupped for another $3b through 2027 as well...
- Civeo, CVEO, the man camp provider finished up the TTM with $30m purchased and reupped for another 10% NCIB

Investor Day Notes:

- Investor Days Trailing 7 Days: None
- Investor Days Next 7 Days: TRUP; NOW; EXLS; ALGN; NRGV

IPO Notes:

- McEwen Mining's copper unit is planning a US or Canada IPO in order to finance the construction of its Los Azules copper project in Argentina.

CEO Turnover Notes:

- KSS cannot catch a break after the WSJ reported that its CEO was funneling Company funds to his girlfriend and former side piece. He was terminated immediately, ending his 3.5-month tenure.
- The CEO at Teledyne Tech (TDY) makes an abrupt departure from the business after only 18 months at the helm. He will be replaced by the current President, effective immediately.
- Water heater and heat pump manufacturer AOS sees its CEO transition to Exec Chair.
- Life Sciences Co AVTR announces that its CEO will step down after the appointment of a successor. See Clusters Notes for the recent activity here.

SPAC Notes:

- SPAC Mergers Announced this week: None
- deSPAC'd this week: None
- Votes next week: None

Newsletter Short Notes:

- The famed Citron Research attacked DUOL via a Twitter claiming an overstretched valuation, an imminent AI threat to its core offering, and insufficient profit catalysts. Yet, the following day, DUOL beat the street expectations and gained over 20%.

13D and Activist Notes:

- PENN-Penn Entertainment, the casino and racetrack operator, announced board refreshment, company will nominate two board choices proposed by activist HG Vora Capital Management. Remember, activists have been criticizing the company's foray into online betting.
- PTLO- Portillo's also truce with Engaged Capital, which owns a 10% stake in the company. As part of the cooperation agreement, company and the activist will together nominate a new director with recent and relevant restaurant operating experience.
- HOG- Purple Chip Capital (stake unclear) came out in support of activist H Partners' (9.1% stake) with their campaign at Harley Davidson. Remember, activist wants to sack the CEO and Chairman Jochen Zeitz, director Thomas Linebarger and director Sara Levinson. Stock popped 10% this week after announcing earnings. We were surprised to see two things, double digits operating margins even though motorcycle shipments down 33%, and they repo'd 3.4m shares. Not a victory lap, everything mooned this week...
- WW- Galloway Capital, (2.9% stake) sent a letter to the board of Weight Watchers International, TLDR activist is perplexed by the rumors of company considering Chapter 11, and says since the debt wall is not until 2028 and 2029, and that the company is not insolvent. The recent deal the company did with Eli Lilly resembles HIMS deal with Novo and could be a game changer for the company. Take a look if you play super hairy nanocaps.
- TRC- Tejon Ranch activist shareholder Harvey Capital sent a letter to shareholders. Activist mentions the focus on residential land entitlements has hurt shareholders, and want leadership and strategy change.
- SAGE- Friend of KEDM Andrew Walker of YAV published a letter on Sage Therapeutics. TLDR, Andrew criticizes the board for approving substantial compensation packages for executives, (amidst persistent cash burn) questions the effectiveness of Sage's current strategies, suggesting that the board lacks a coherent plan to steer the company toward profitability. Find Andrew's previous pitch here.

Merger Notes:

- The melting ice cubes of stock images in an era of AI image generation – SSTK / GETY filed a definitive proxy. EGM will be held on Jun 10. The spread is sitting at ~60%.
- AKYA / QTRX amended their merger agreement in a way that now the deal does not require shareholder approval because: a) The merger consideration is changed from an all-stock to cash and stock deal, in which QTRX will issue 9 mil fewer shares; b) more than 50% of the AKYA shareholders agreed in favor of the deal. An activist shareholder, Kent Lake, with 7.7% ownership, is unhappy with the decision and is urging for a boardroom change. The deal spread is juicy at 55%.

- BAKK LN / GNC LN final offer deadline is next week, on May 9. Greencore Group is a Dublin-based convenience food manufacturer with extensive operations in the UK, and Bakkavor is one of the leading fresh-prepared food providers. The merger is a standing example of the consolidation of the UK convenience sector. BAKK LN initially rejected the first offer, and parties agreed in principle after the second higher offer. The deal has a CVR component, which Bakkavor, which recently announced it would sell its China business, could sell its US business, in which case CVR holders would be entitled to additional cash. We don't think the shareholder approval is challenging, considering the fact that the founder and major shareholders seem to back the deal. However, the regulatory hurdle, specifically from the UK CMA, could be the biggest challenge. The merger spread is at 10%.

- Upcoming dates:

Stock Split Notes:

- The animal safari company, PRKA, a name we've always watched closely after our failed takeover, is squeezing out the little guys as they affect a reverse split of 1:500, and then a forward split of 5:1. Effective date 5/1.

Listing Change Notes:

- Steel Partners, SPLP, officially delisted and is now trading OTC

Strategic Alternatives Notes:

- We mentioned SAGE above, worth noting that the company reiterated they are pursuing strategic alternatives in their Q1 earnings announcement this week, but nothing material was disclosed.

Privatization Notes:

- Philippines' Maynilad Water Services filed a preliminary prospectus. The company plans to raise $633 mil at a $3 b valuation this July 2025.

- Ethiopian telecommunications company – Ethio Telecom sold only 10% of the planned shares in its IPO. The officials say the low demand was because the shares were offered to only Ethiopian citizens.
- Pakistan International Airlines (PIAA PA) is holding roadshows in the Middle East.
- Benin's Banque Internationale pour l'Industrie et le Commerce raised $173 mil, becoming the country's biggest ever IPO. The Local ticker is BICB

Demutualization Notes:

- WSBK converted and is now trading

Index Addition/Deletion Notes:

- As noted above, it was Rank Day this week. See above for the working spreadsheet. It's always a great place to look for companies getting puked out of an index.

CVR Notes:

- Kronos Bio, KRON, a highly distressed, negative EV biotech company ($43mil market cap vs. $112mil cash and $25mil debt), agreed to be acquired by Concentra Biosciences for $0.57 per share in cash, with ~ a 35% discount from the close, plus one non-tradeable CVR. We are not biotech specialists, but after reading the CVR milestones and looking at KRON's historical clinical results, any significant payout from the CVR is low and highly speculative: the milestones are mostly related to the company's failed & discontinued assets. We are reading Concentra's intention as a quick value extraction rather than a long-term turnaround effort.
- In contrast, the CVR of Regulus Therapeutics \(RGLS\) and Novartis AG (NOVN SW) is interesting. RGLS will be acquired for $7.00 in cash per share plus a non-tradable CVR of $7.00 each based on a single, clearly defined milestone - the FDA approval of farabursen, a kidney disease treatment. The merger is expected to be completed by Q2 2025, and the shares are trading at ~$7.85 per share. The CVR deadline is by Dec 31, 2034. Last March, Farabursen showed promising clinical results in Phase 1b.

Tender Offer Notes:

- LIRC CN increased its tender offer price range to C$5.20 – C$5.70 and extended the expiry date to May 15, 2025.

Investor Letter Notes:

- Dan Loeb's Third Point Partners published its Q1 2025 letter. He engaged with CoStar Group and the company even added three new directors. Interestingly, he is also bullish on the prospect of the merger between X and Nippon Steel – "We have a meaningful investment in U.S. Steel, which we believe will complete its planned merger with Nippon Steel based on the industrial logic behind the combination, and benefits to 'America First' re-industrialization plans".
- Massif Capital's Q1 letter is worth reading: The letter elaborated on the US market, oil and gas markets in Europe and metals trading amidst a trade war.
